

Sub-program	2. Economic Growth
Component (CP) (Development Issues)	Economy and finance policy, Industry policy, Investment promotion policy
Accepting University	1. Ritsumeikan University  Graduate School of International Relations  Global International Relations Program  &lt;Available Degree&gt;  Master of Arts in International Relations 2. Hiroshima University  (1) Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences  Division of Humanities and Social Sciences, International Economic Development Program  (2) Graduate School of Innovation and Practice for Smart Society  Research Area: Social Innovation Science  &lt;Available Degree&gt;  (1) a. Master of Philosophy  b. Master of Economics  c. Master of Business Administration  d. Master of International Cooperation Studies  (2) Master of Philosophy 3. International University of Japan (IUJ)  Graduate School of International Management  MBA Program  Japan-Global Development Program  &lt;Available Degree&gt;  Master of Business Administration (MBA)
Possible Fields of Study	International cooperation Economic and Fiscal Policy, Macroeconomics Policy, Fiscal Policy, Monetary Policy, Tax Policy, Econometrics, Development Economics, Industrial Promotion Policy Investment Promotion Policy, Overseas Investment Promotion Policy, Business Environment Improvement
Target Organizations	All Ministries of Mozambique
Background	Mozambique possesses rich natural resource, and a high economic growth rate is expected. In spite of its high potential, it has not been able to fully utilize to raise the level of the domestic economy as a whole, and the economic disparity within the country remains large. In order to comprehensively and strategically overcome the various challenges in the field of economic policy in Mozambique, it is necessary to achieve macroeconomic stability with a focus on poverty eradication and socio-economic development through robust and sustainable economic growth.